The Year Past

The 1983-84 school year turned out many events that occasionally evoked shock, happiness, and lots of laughter. Some of the shocking events that occurred included the Hendricks murders, the Grenada invasion and unfortunate deaths ranging from newswoman Jessica Savitch to Beach Boy Dennis Wilson to contemporary singer Karen Carpenter. Many people were honored for some very personal triumphs including Vanessa Williams, the first black Miss America, Michael Jackson who won MANY awards for his #1 THRILLER album and video, and Sally Ride for being the first woman in space.

Some of the many phenomena that popped up throughout the year were the much sought after Cabbage Patch Kids, the entertaining (and controversial) Boy George, and the very realistic movie THE DAY AFTER.

Locally, the two-year underpass project finally opened, K's Merchandise Mart opened its doors for the Christmas rush, new restaurants like People's and Bennigan's served Bloomington-Normal, and M-TV still remained the hottest channel in the twin cities. KG/BAS

Chris Craft: Fought the TV establishment.

Hendricks murders stun Central Illinois

1 During the second week of November, Central Illinois residents were stunned to learn about the brutal slayings of Susan Hendricks, 30, and her children, Rebekah, 9, Grace, 7, and Benjamin, 5, at their home, 313 Carl Drive, Bloomington. The killings sent a shock wave throughout the Twin Cities.

On Dec. 5, David Hendricks, 29, was charged with the murders of his wife and children. Hendricks told police he had spent the evening of Nov. 7 with his family before leaving about 11 p.m. for a business trip to Wisconsin. He returned the following evening to meet family members and police who had just discovered the crime. He said he returned home after he was unable to contact his wife by telephone, and then talked with a relative, who said the family had missed a dinner engagement at another relative's house that evening.

Officials charged Hendricks with the murders after receiving laboratory tests which, officials said, indicated food taken from the victims' stomachs showed they died before Hendricks said he left on his business trip.

Further court dates have been set for January; a change of venue for the trial may occur.

UHS Movie Polls

University High School's "Movie Polls" have come out with some varied and interesting answers. When our pollster, Cara Stearns, asked people, "What's your favorite movie and why?", she received answers like:

Mr. Victor — "SUDDEN IMPACT, because I loved it when Clint Eastwood said, 'Go ahead, make my day.'"

Peggy Naylor — "THE RESCUERS, because it's full of action."

Molly Marsh — "VALLEY GIRL, I like the guy named Randy."

Mike Evans — "ANIMAL HOUSE, because I have a crush on John Belushi."

Chris West — "I don't have a favorite movie."

Lynn Vanderbosch — "ALL THE RIGHT MOVES, because I never got to see RISKY BUSINESS."

Chris Holstein — "THE WARRIORS, because it had a lot of blood and gore."

Karen Wolter — "KRAMER VS. KRAMER, because it made me laugh and cry."

Denise Tilton — "THE ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW, because it was so weird."

Maureen McAllister — "RISKY BUSINESS because I have a wild fantasy about babysitting."

Leonard Pegues — "PRIVATE SCHOOL, because I liked all the beautiful women in it."

Sarah Bushnell — "RISKY BUSINESS, because I liked the way Tom Cruise danced around in his underwear."

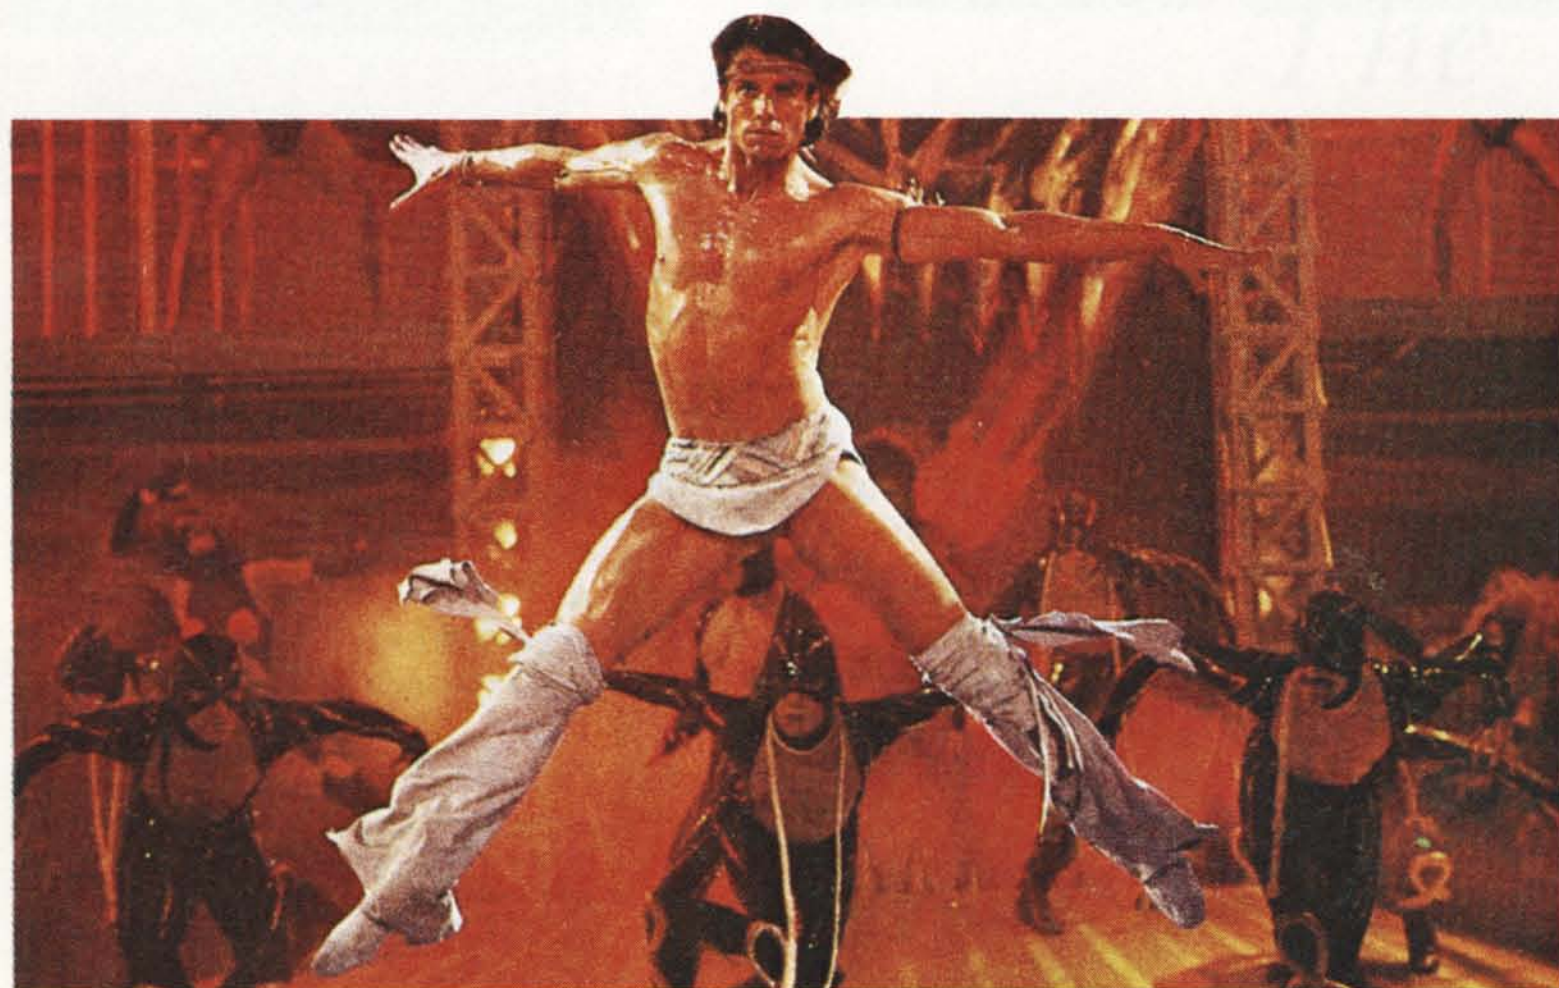

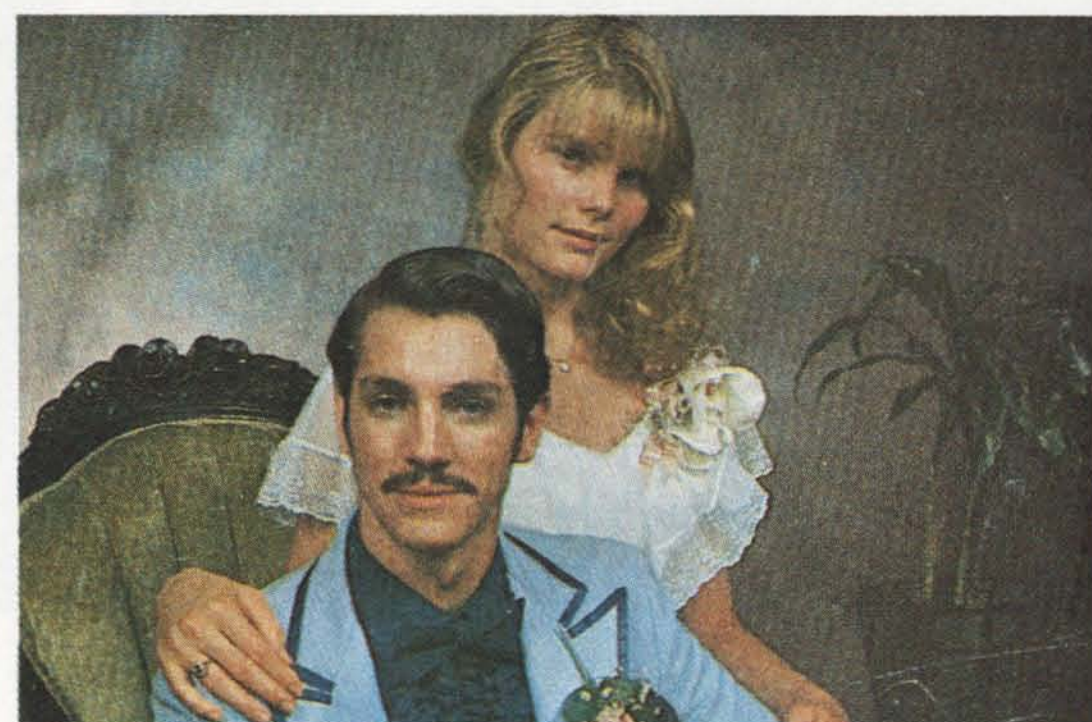

The popular consensus among the girls seems to be that any movie with Tom Cruise in it is great, because he leaves them "Breathless." The guys, on the other hand, agreed that action-packed movies like SUDDEN IMPACT were made of "The Right Stuff."

Hot Summer II

Last summer, after the U.S. movie industry had begun its rebound from a 2½-year slump to record the biggest box-office grosses in its history, the story was front-page news and real tinsel was flying from every flagpole in Bel Air. This summer the lines outside movie theaters are even longer, but nobody seems to be shouting. The industry appears so robust that its latest gains are almost unremarkable. According to Variety, ticket sales were up 10.5% for the month of July, and about 9% for the year so far, over comparable 1982 figures.

The financial contours of summer '83 are similar to those of '82: one super-smash (Return of the Jedi) from the mega-hit monopoly of Spielberg-Lucas (the six top alltime grossers, including last year's E.T.: The Extra-Terrestrial, were either produced or directed by Steven Spielberg or George Lucas); one surprise hit from early spring that gained momentum by the summer (Porky's in 1982, Flashdance

Cruise and De Mornay in Risky Business

Chase and family on their Vacation

this year); and the usual olio of comedies, thrillers and musicals. As of last week, seven 1983 films had earned more than $50 million: Jedi ($216.9 million), Flashdance ($74 million), Trading Places ($72.9 million), WarGames ($61.8 million), Superman III ($61.5 million), Octopussy ($59.6 million) and Staying Alive ($50.9 million).

A pair of comedies dominate the late-summer box office. National Lampoon's Vacation is a lame, hard-to-sit-through farce starring Chevy Chase as a food-additives specialist who takes his '50s sitcom family on a calamitous cross-country car trip. The other hit, Paul Brickman's Risky Business, is yet another entry in the lamentable genre of teen-age sex comedies: a young man finds love and success by becoming a pimp. Still, this film is deftly made, the humor nicely understated, the leading actors (Tom Cruise and Rebecca de Mornay) smart and appealing. Risky Business has eyes to emulate Flashdance as a sleeper smash. If it does, that will be news.

WILD, WILD, WILD

This is not the true reflection of the whole student body. U-High consists of the mellow or laid-back bunch and the bunch who let it all hang out. In every school there are always the studious who never let themselves go and then on the other hand there are the blowoffs who occasionally will bear down and study.

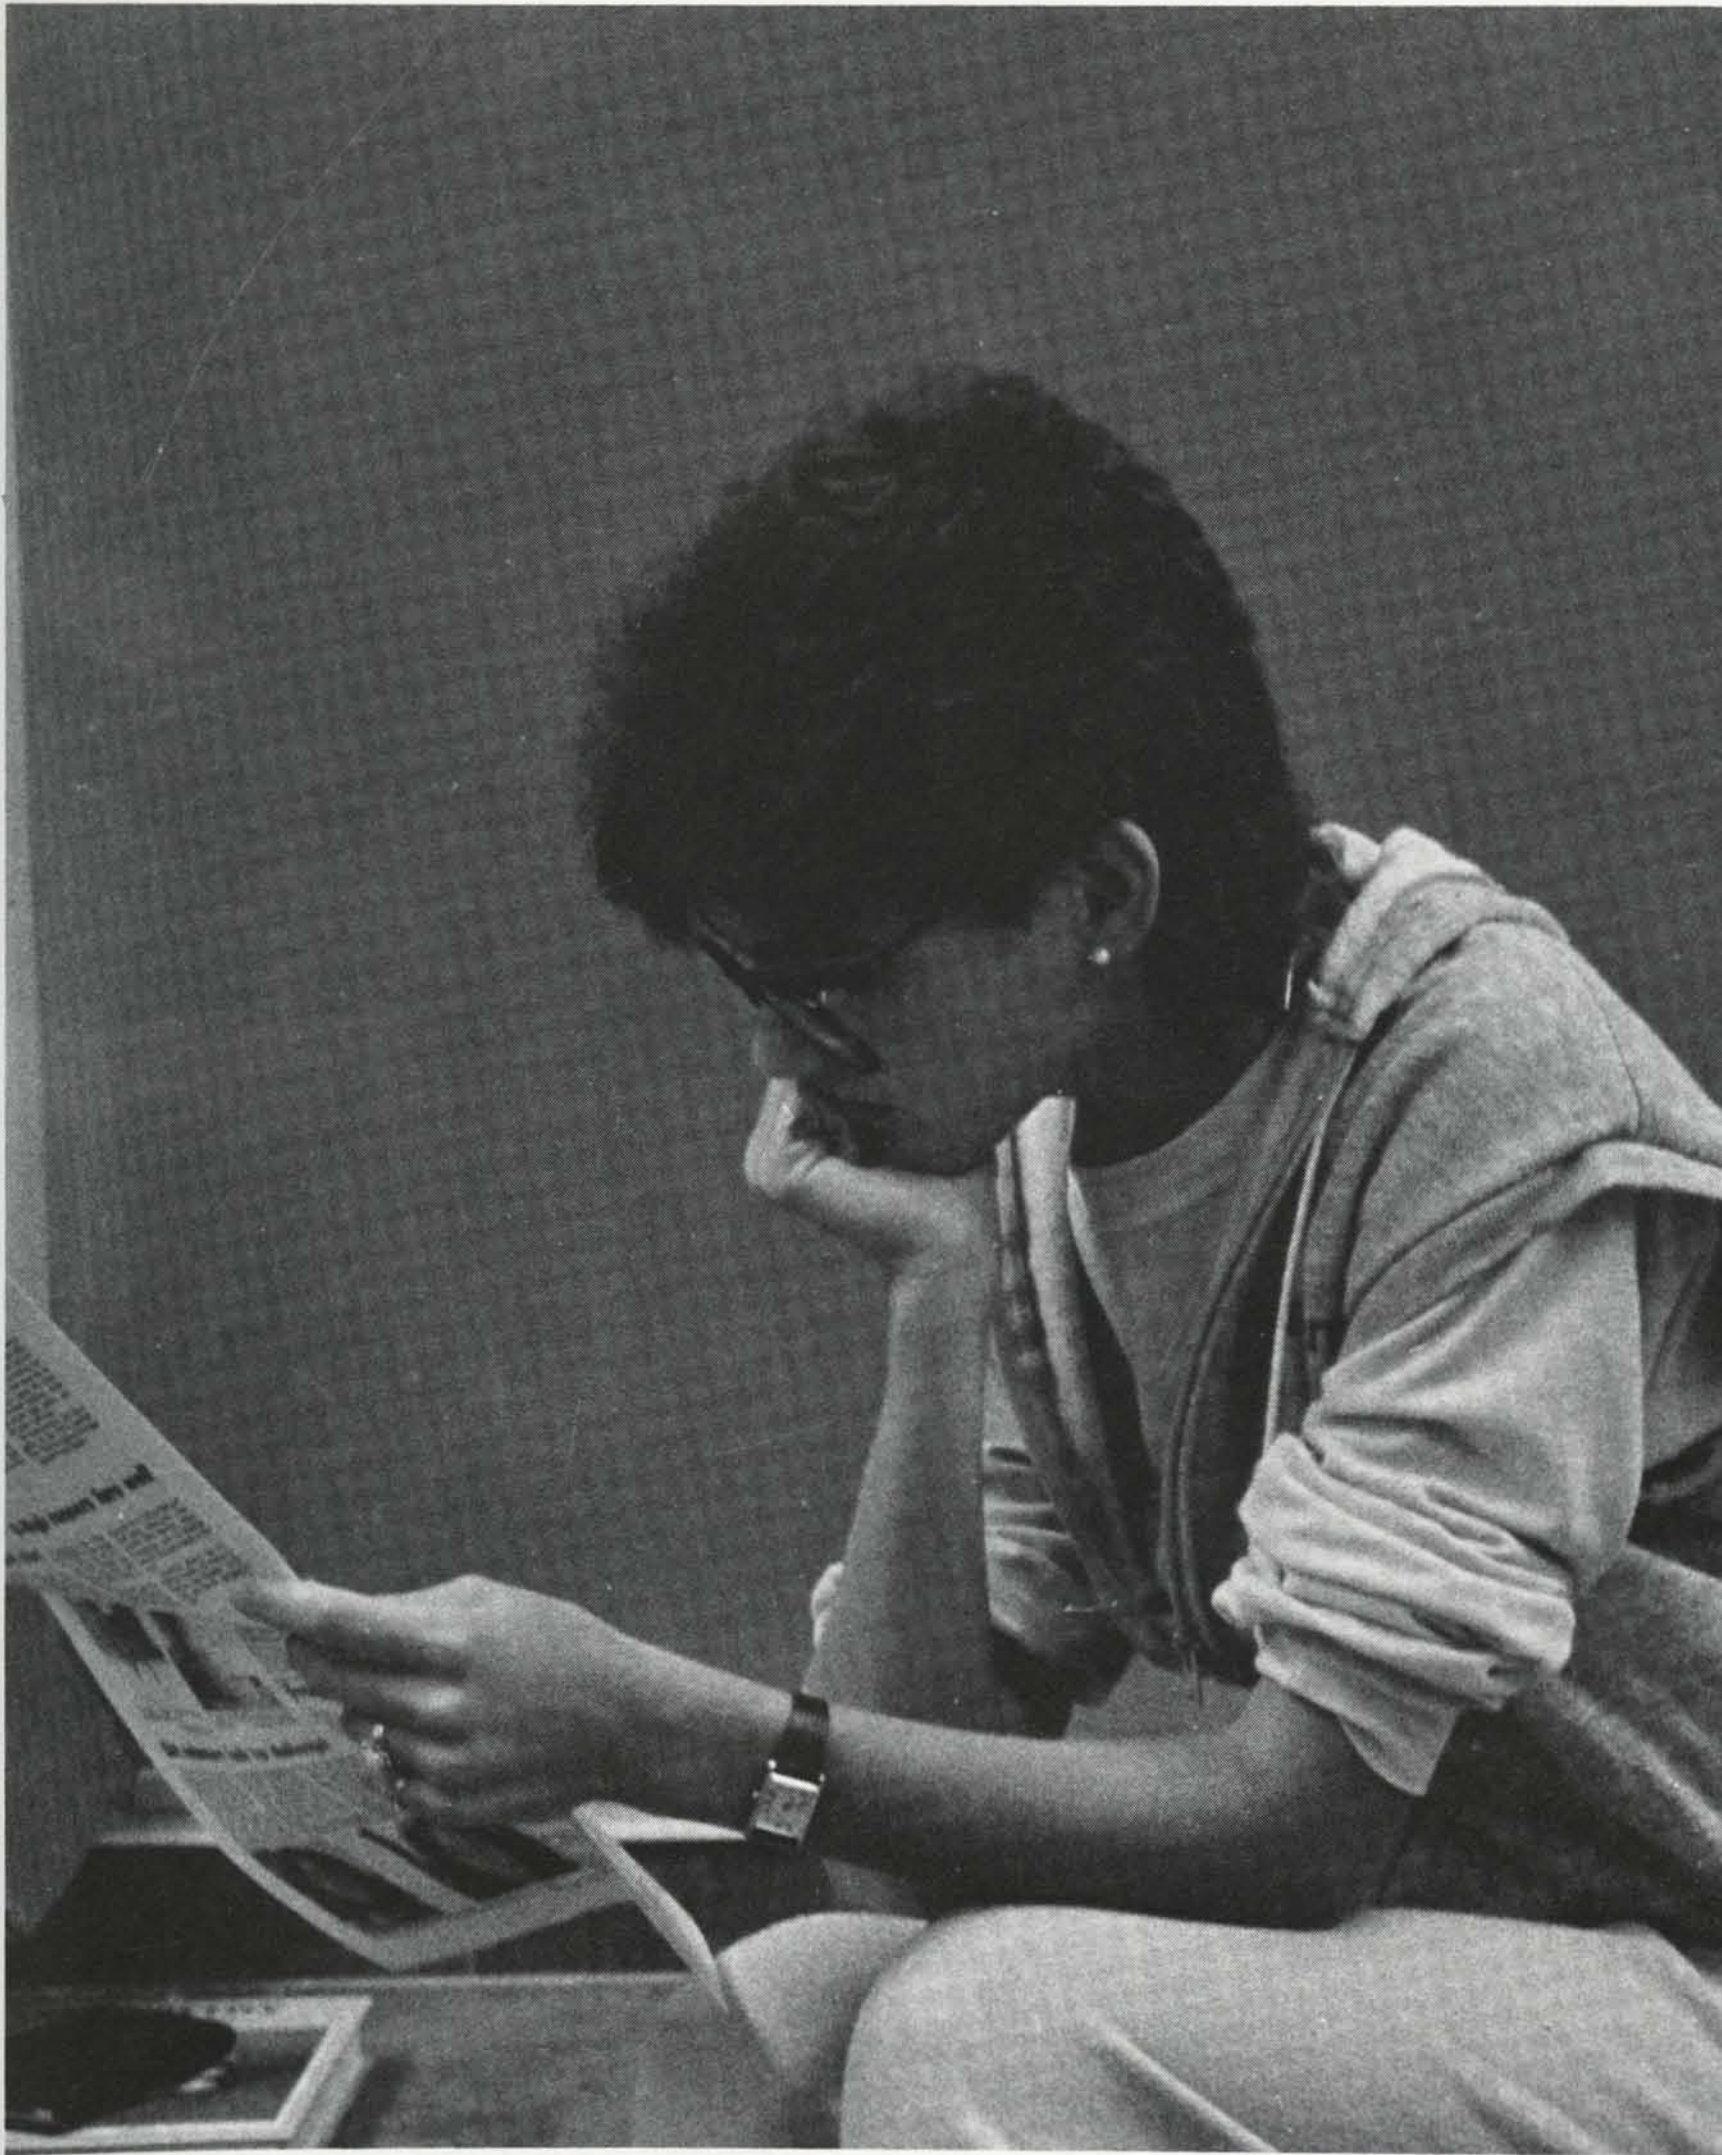

This cross section is always needed in a school to keep it alive and respectable. In my opinion, U-High is more on the wild side. It isn't like they totally blow it off but we always seem to find time to study and party. It is the students' choice to decide which road to take and it will determine their life. DCM

83-84 Homecoming

"Just Between You and Me" was the theme for Homecoming 1983, which started with the traditional hall decorating on Wednesday, September 28. The Freshmen captured the contest by doing an excellent job on the stairwells. Each stairwell was decorated for one of the four classes and one was for the band.

On Thursday, the games got off to a good start with the tricycle races. The class of 1984 retained the championship for the second year in a row. The movie "California Suite" was not one of the better Homecoming movies, but the students still seemed to enjoy it.

Class and Style

The movie CLASS represents the Seniors this year. Class and style suit this class, due to that this is their year. Eight new members to the National Honor Society, twenty charter members of Mu Alpha Theta, Homecoming, and Prom are all for them. Even putting themselves through the traditional (and dreaded) Senior Slave Day earned them respect and, of course, it was done with the usual Senior grace.

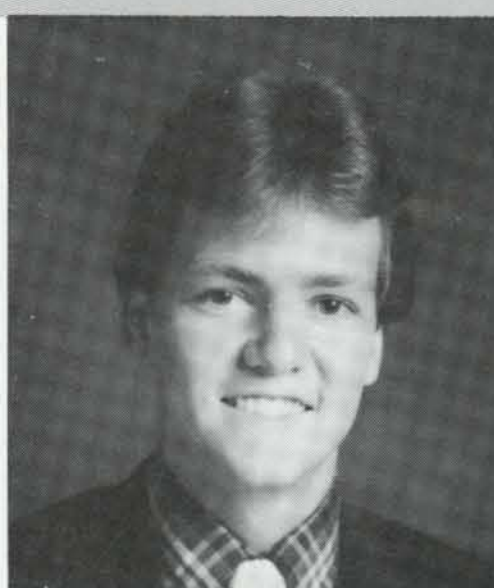

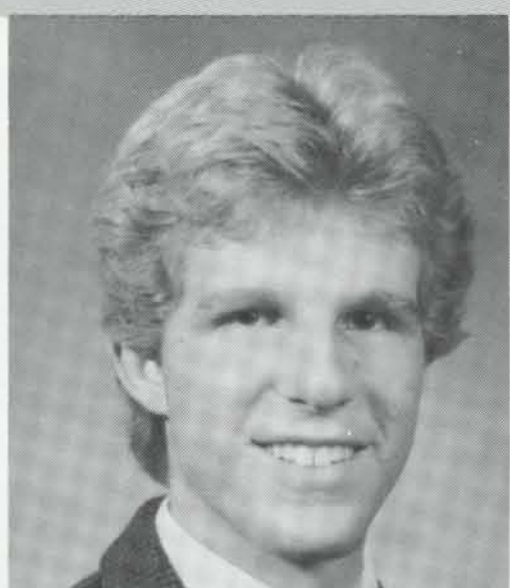

You can see what grace and style they have by looking at their Senior portraits. The following students, however, are not pictured: John Aiddoo, Carrie Brooks, Ike Chiu, Dan Clark, Margo Corra, Chinh Dao, Tembi Hove, Patti Kraft, Thang Lai, Allison McCullough, Connie Morrissey, Syndi Parton, David Rongey, Mike Shannon, David Short, Mikko Siltala, Karl Storm, and Chien Tran. 1984: The Memorable Year

Wow! It's our senior year. One year from now, we'll be out on our own, doing our "own" thing. I don't believe it's almost over. It seemed like yesterday when we were all freshmen, just starting to learn all about high school life and how to survive. It all went too fast. But it's kind of exciting as well as frustrating trying to think of which college to go to or exactly what we're going to do. And making the final decision is the hardest. Everyone thinks that you can just blow-off your senior year and have one big party, but we all found out that that's not true. In fact, most of us studied our hardest trying to improve our G.P.A. Now don't think we didn't manage to have a good time; we did (like the Senior Slave Day). Our class had a lot of responsibilities this year too. We ended up putting on two successful dances to help pay for our class trip to Six Flags and we wrote scripts and wills to put on our 1984 Class Night Show. In every class as well as ours, everyone has his own set of friends and everyone does his own thing, but when we, as a class, needed to pull together, we did. Thanks, Class of 1984! KW

The Agony and the Ecstasy

Remembering the good times is what high school is all about, but with those good times, you also find the bad times. The Class of 1984 has had many good memories and will cherish them forever. When asked, "What will you remember most about your experience at U-High?", we came up with these responses:

ANGIE KATH: "The wonderful academic education in addition to the many social activities which provided me with a foundation for interaction with a variety of people."

CAROL GRESHAM: "The hassles of getting a parking sticker!"

SARAH BUSHNELL: "All the skipped classes."

MIKE VOHLAND: "The intellectual experience."

Time of Change

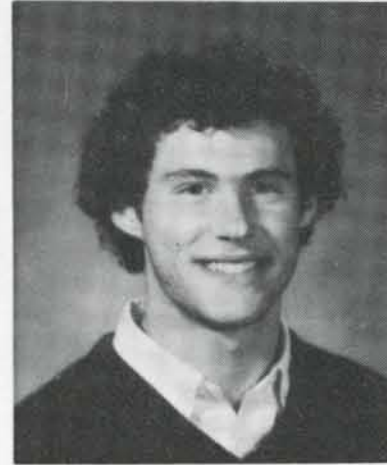

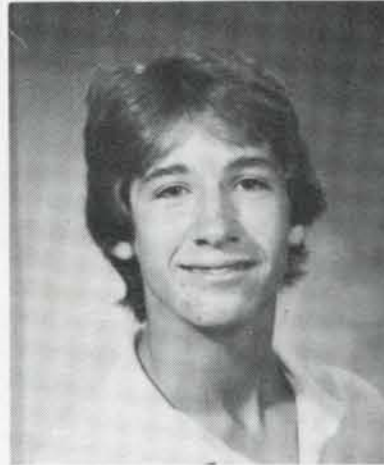

The Juniors are in a state of "trading places" — they have been followers for three years; now they will be leaders. They will be setting the standards for the Class of 1988, which is just one of the many responsibilities they will incur during their senior year. But, if anybody can handle the duties that will arise during Senior year, the Class of 1985 can.

Dealing With the Best

When you speak of the 1984 Junior class, you are talking about the best! During our Junior year we laid back and watched the Seniors dominate the school. Our class over the year had a great many fund-raisers in hopes to raise enough money for a Senior Class Trip to Florida. As it turned out, the trip to Florida never materialized.

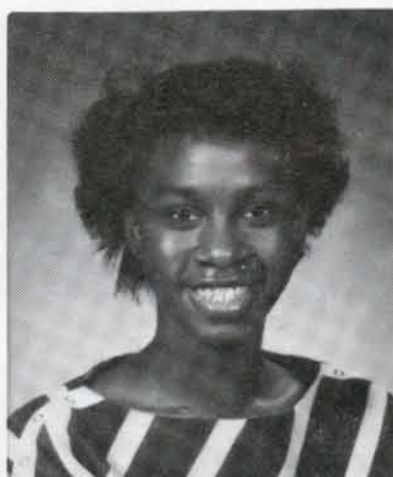

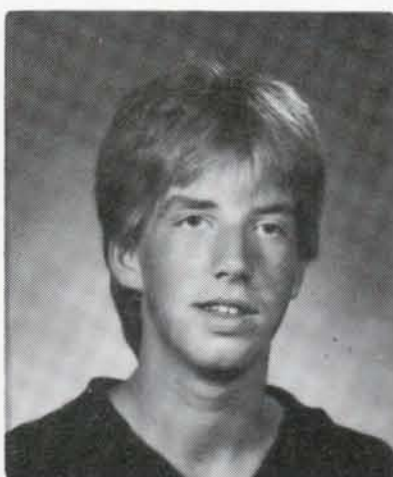

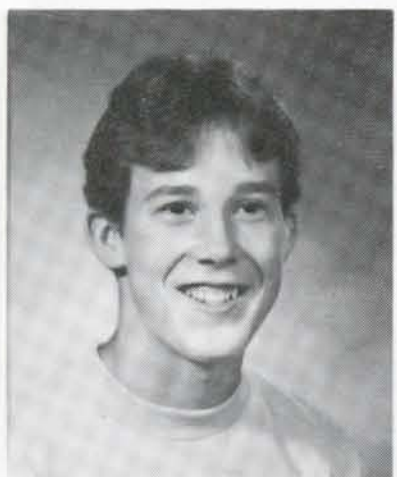

Over all, though, it was a good year for the Juniors. The athletic Juniors contributed a great deal to all of the varsity sports. The whole class is looking forward to the most mellow year of their high school career, which will be our Senior year. At this time, we are going to have to show excellent leadership skills to guide the underclassmen along the right road. DCM

Drivers Beware

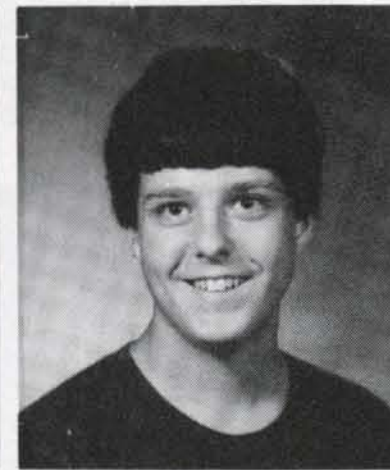

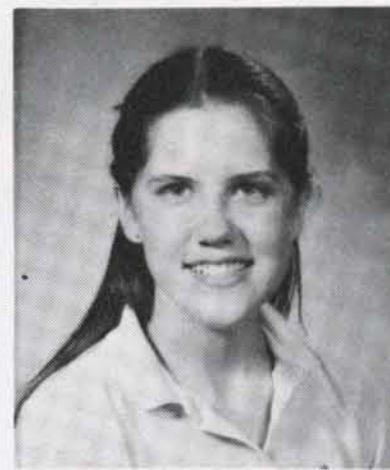

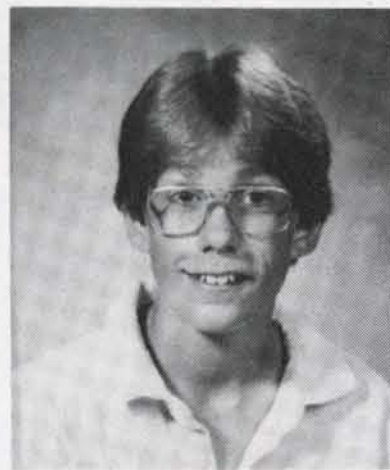

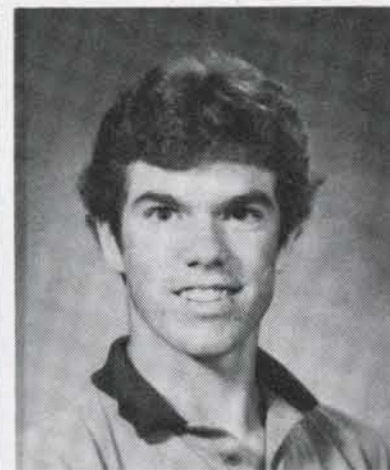

The "something wicked" mentioned above does not pertain to the Class of 1986 itself, rather to the terrors of the Sophs who have just started to drive. Before you know it, you could be dodging the ones who have just gotten their blue slips. No one but Mrs. Bivans knows better the agony of teaching students to drive. When asked "Is it fun to teach someone to drive?", Bivans replied (before taking her tranquilizer)

"Argh!" So next time you head for the parking lot, watch out . . . something wicked may be coming your way.

What Did You Say?

Every school has its own particular style of speaking which reflects the students' lives, ideas, or just general weirdness. From our past we have the infamous "go-for-its," "ferr sures," and "awesomes." Some of this years most colorful sayings and one-liners are: "scandalous," "not," "go die!" "nasty," "intense," "no offense but," "duwane," (a good description of the JR. boys) and "you know."

And inspired by the media we get:
"cool," "well all right, huh."

— FAST TIMES

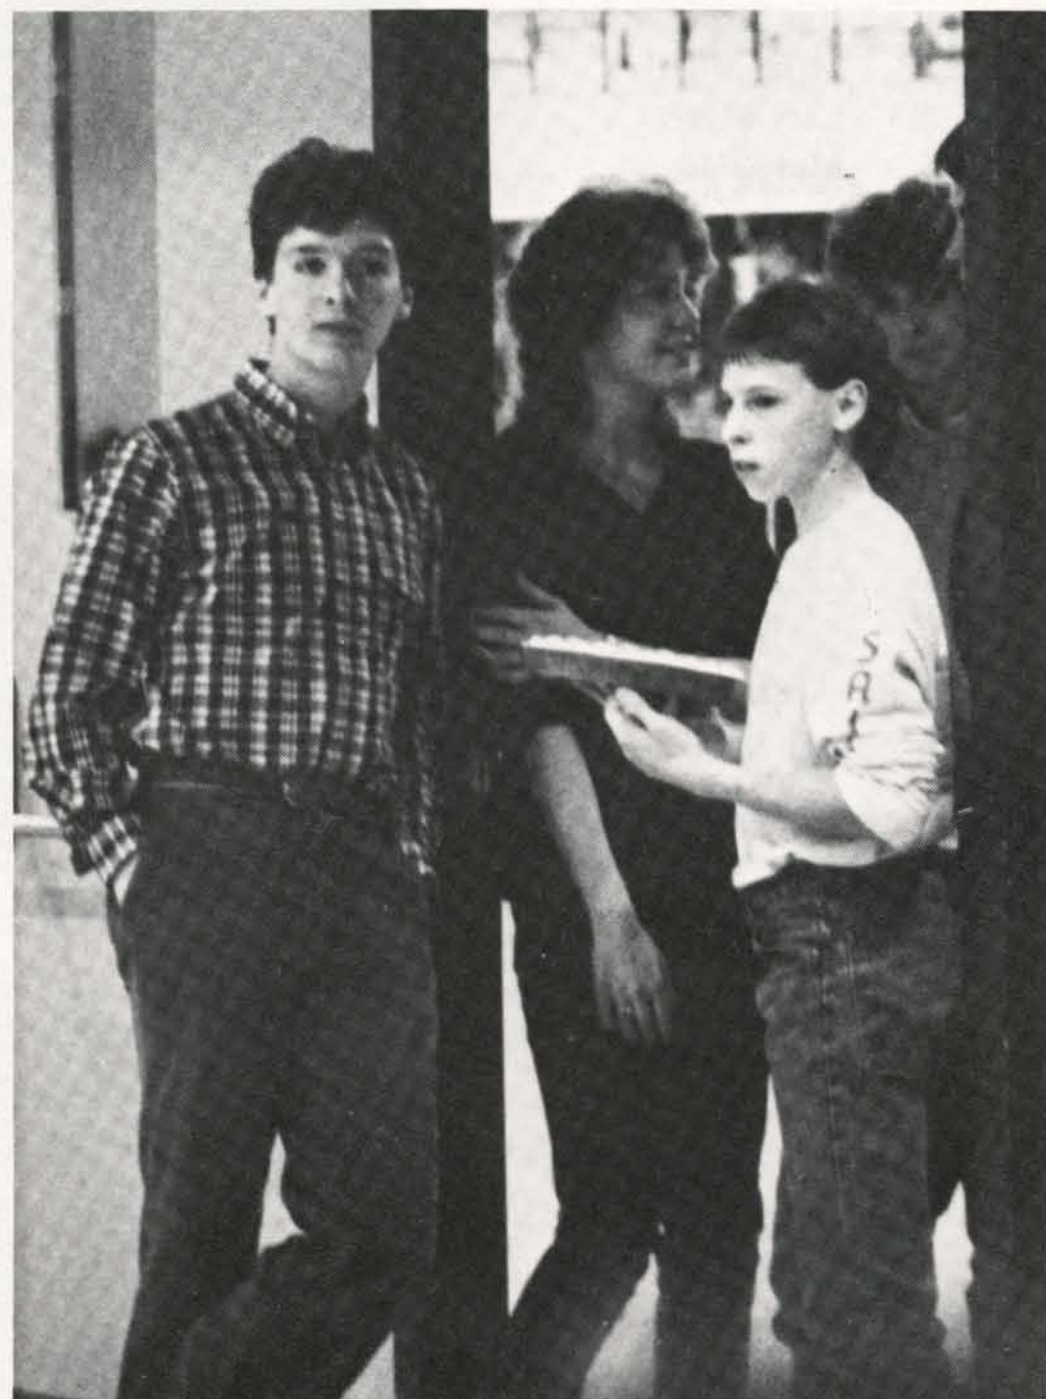

"go ahead, make my day"

— SUDDEN IMPACT

"where's the beef," and "I don't think there's anybody back there!"

Maturing With Time

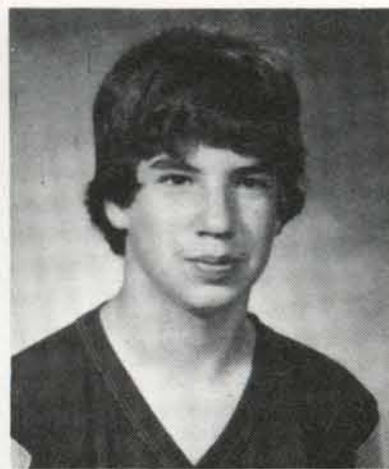

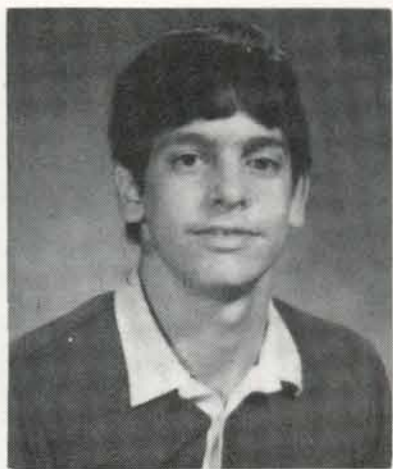

The sophomore class should be compared to a bottle of wine as they both age and mature with time. The sophomore class proved throughout the year that they are competitors and are not to be reckoned with. The sophomores withstood their final year before becoming upperclassmen with great patience. Their athletes did an exceptional job on the J.V. level with many highlights throughout their seasons. Despite the fact that the sophomores are preparing to receive their licenses, this should not be need to worry. Ha, Ha! The sophomores have prepared all year to accept the tremendous responsibilities which come along with their Junior year such as prom and all those tasks which accompany it.

A Year Of Dangerous Life

This summarizes the typical freshmen year at any high school. Overall at U-High the freshmen didn't have any serious threats. The freshmen were able to accomplish many feats during their trial and error year. Many of the freshmen were quite successful in their athletic events and many others excelled in their academic activities.

Even despite their little respect that any freshmen receives during their year, the freshman class did exceptionally well handling this pressure and excitement and proved to be an outstanding class for the future.

Freshmen Get It Together

The class of '87 got off to a good start at U-High. They elected their class officers which were: Barry Johnson, President; Pat Mackin, Vice-President; Mary Ann Cullen, Secretary; and Michelle Gillenwater, Treasurer. The freshmen participated in the fund raiser for St. Jude's by selling Spirit Notes with help from their class sponsors, Miss Scott and Mrs. Witherow.

The Class of '87 took first place in the hall decoration competition during Spirit Week.

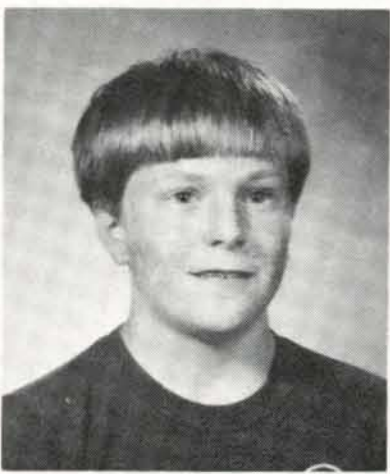

The freshmen also participated in sports and did well academically. Twenty-four freshmen were on the Honor Roll and six of those had straight A's.

We know the Class of '87 can keep up the good work.

During this year, the U-High faculty was barely "Staying Alive." Pollster Bruce Stefl made them work even harder by having them decide on their favorite and least favorite movie. Some favorites included:

"Cyrano de Bergerac" — Mr. Parmantie

"How Green Was My Valley" — Mrs. Jurenas

"Wuthering Heights" — Mrs. Hoss

"An American In Paris" — Dr. Kanzler

"Dr. Zhivago" — Mrs. Grogg, Mrs. Blunk

"Arthur" — Mrs. Frankeberger

"The Three Musketeers" — Mrs.

Cantrell

Some of the ones they didn't care to see twice were:

"A Clockwork Orange" — Mrs. Fortune

"Breathless" — Ms. Zielinski

"Scarface" — Mrs. Brown

"The Smurfs and the Magic Flute" — Mrs. Huston

"Midnight Cowboy" — Mrs. Bills

"Dressed To Kill" — Mrs. Sams

"Looking for Mr. Goodbar" — Mrs. Bivans

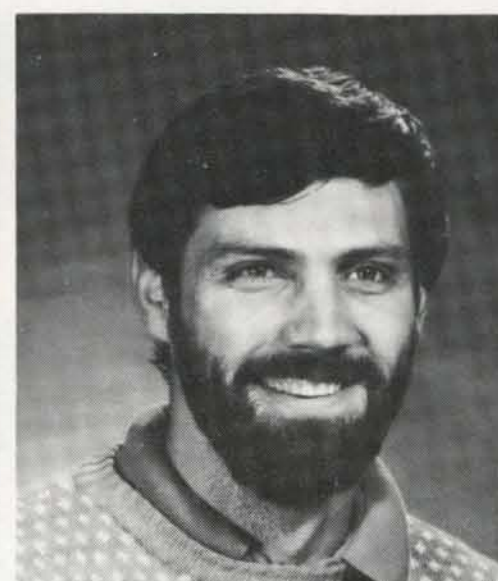

I for one wouldn't follow our teachers' opinion because I know a lot of people who just loved "The Smurfs and the Magic Flute."

Prom '84

The 1984 Junior-Senior Prom was held in the ISU Bowling and Billiards Center. Dress for the occasion consisted of the usual formal wear with many ladies choosing gowns having large hoop skirts. The Junior class chose "Almost Paradise", a song from the hit movie FOOTLOOSE, as the theme. Decorations of huge amounts of beautiful trees and flowers strung with lights made it a true paradise for the evening. Kevin Bienz and Jennifer Brumleve were crowned king and queen.

Couples returned at 1:00 to the BBC for a rousing time shooting craps and trying their hands at blackjack using play money. Parents and local businesses provided prizes auctioned off to those lucky at the tables. But the night came to an end around 4 a.m. as many went home to bed while others kept the night young by going out to breakfast. ASM/RLR

An Eventful Year

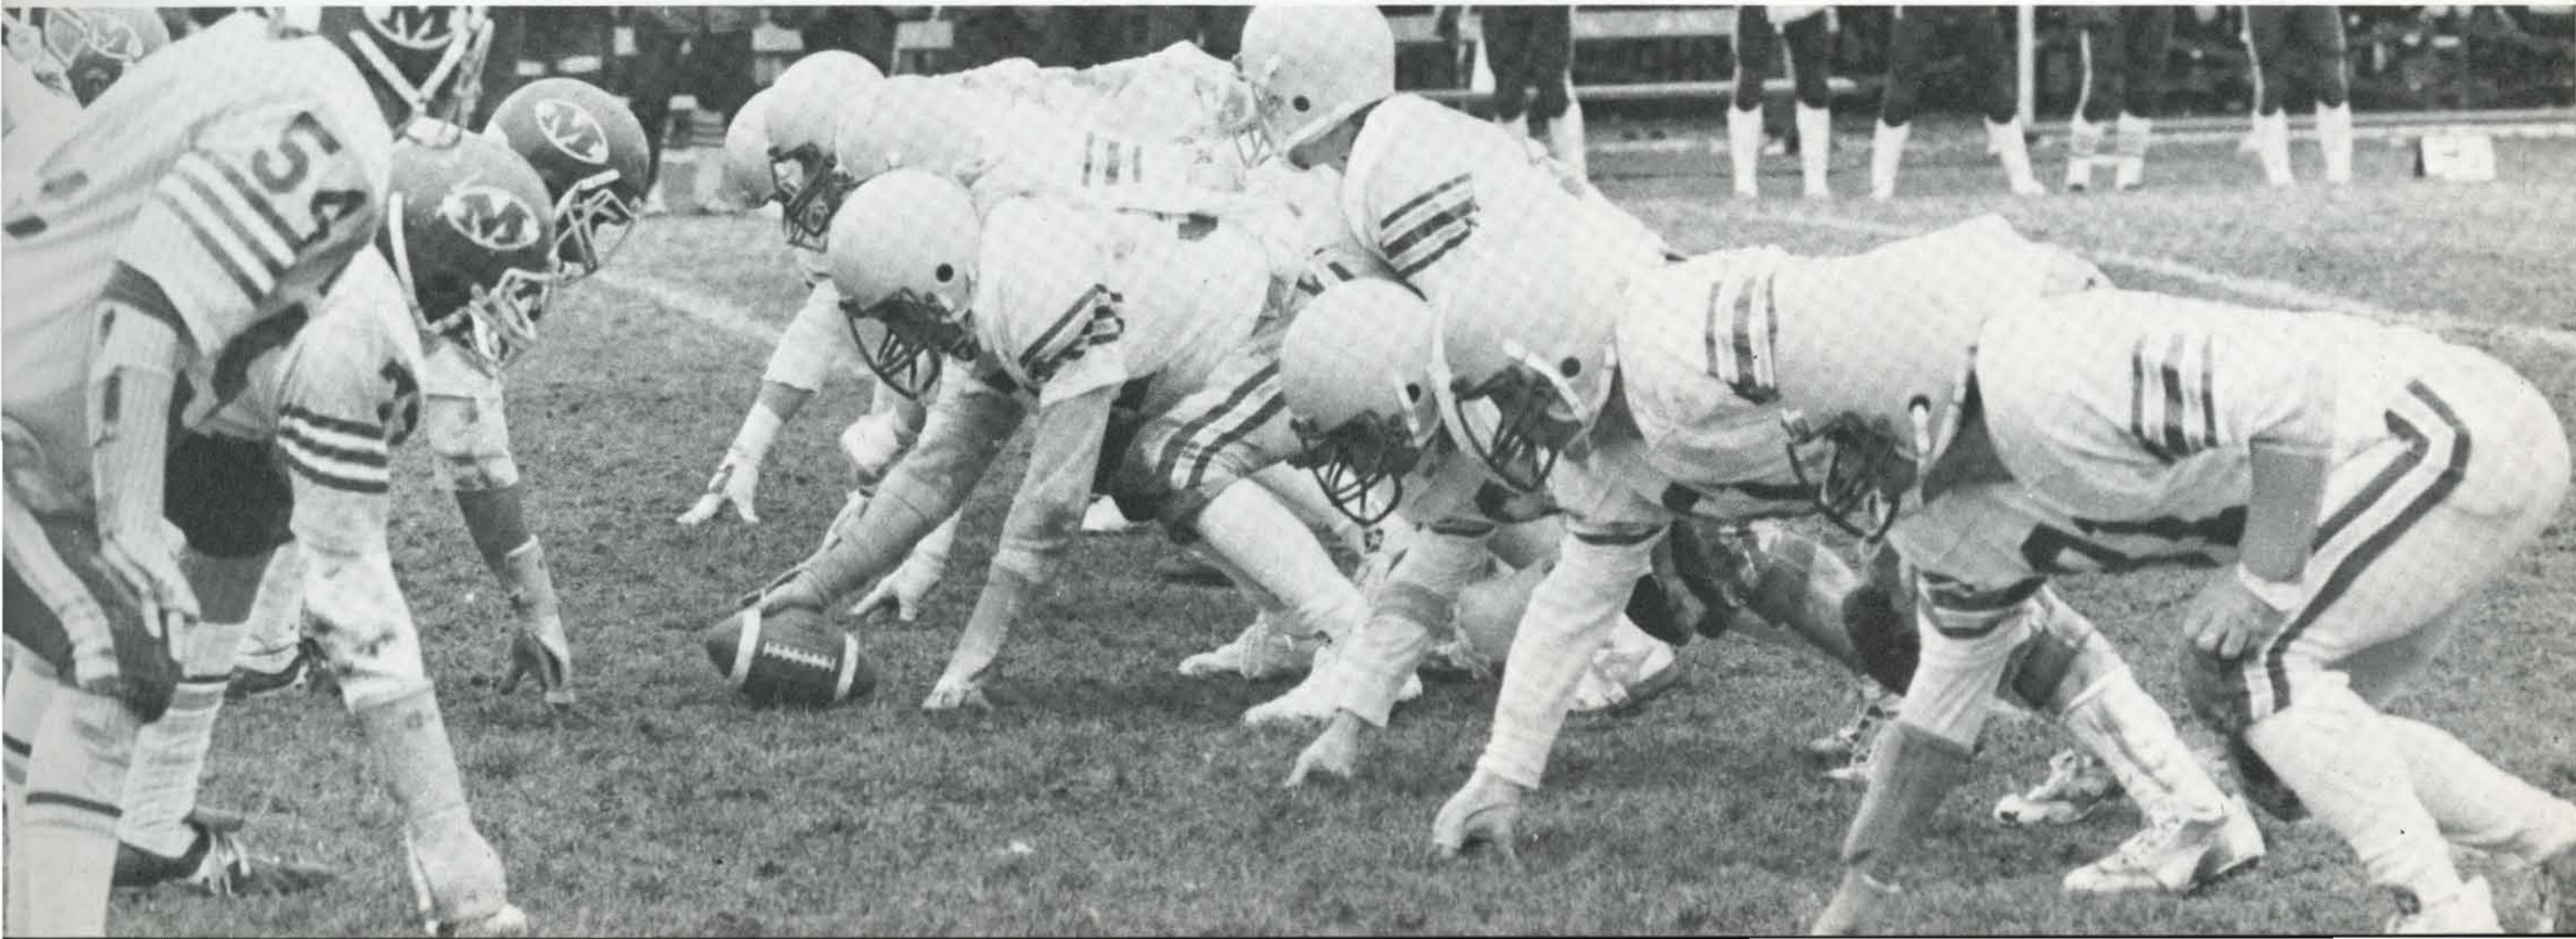

IT WAS HISTORY in the making as U-High's football team defeated Central Catholic to capture the Conference title. This also cast U-High into a playoff berth in class 3A. Throughout the year U-High struggled to remain a respectable opponent. But, as the season progressed on U-High found the poise of a serious contender and used this to crush an exceptional Central Catholic team. After their grand finale they went on to win several games in the playoffs until they faced a tough Monmouth team. The whole game was up and down until the final seconds. As it turned out Monmouth came out on top by a narrow margin. On a whole though the U-High team had a great season with many high points.

A Rebuilding Year

"We had a rebuilding year" is a typical coaches reply to the question, "How was your season?" It seems that is what Miss T would say if you asked about her 1984 girls' tennis team. The girls managed to win the same amount of meets as last year. The number one seed was split between seniors Ann Fairbairn and Karen Wolter. There were five new freshmen this year that will help contribute to the future success of the team. Whether or not this year was a time for rebuilding or not, the U-High tennis team always have a good time and give it 100 percent. KLW

Wrestlers Grapple On

This year's wrestling team ended with three wrestlers competing in the state tournament. Seniors John Zimmerman and Gary Wilcox and Junior Derek Auth made the trip to finish the hectic season. The season saw a very promising team fall to injuries, yet battle back against strong competition. It was more of a season for individuals as the lineup was constantly changing, and many young wrestlers gained valuable experience. With a large group of letterman returning next year, the future looks bright. PH

Continued Success

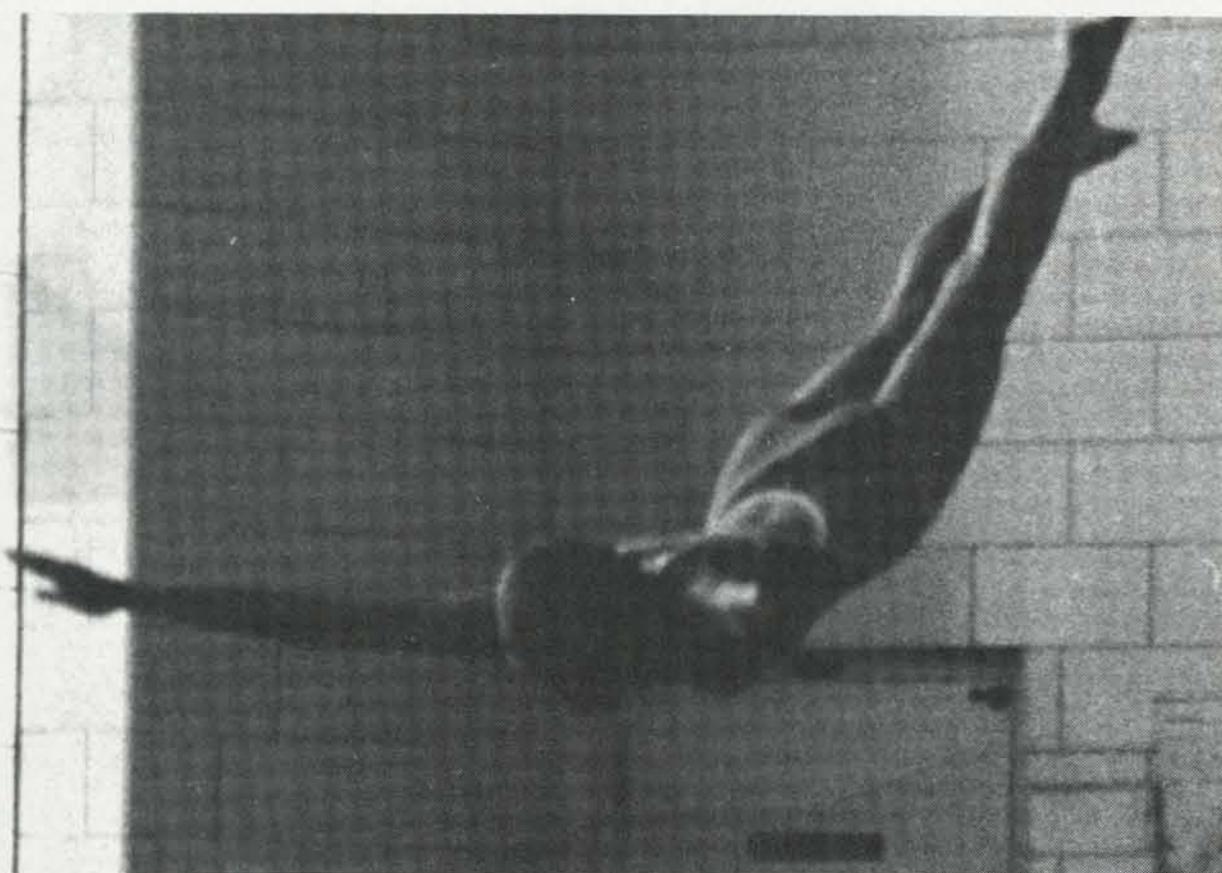

The 1983 Swimming season was very good to U-High's girls again this year. The team finished 11-0, while capturing the Intercity, Richwood Relay, and Sectional titles for the second straight year. The Medley Relay, consisting of Brenda Fisher, Katherine Rolley, Nan Macy, and Stephanie Armstrong advanced to the state meet, placing 23rd. Nan Macy earned 20th at the state meet in the 100 yard butterfly. The team's MVP award went to Junior Brenda Fisher.

This team of 17 had only two graduating seniors, Patty Ryan and Nan Macy. With no losses in the past two seasons, the girls are obviously quite experienced in winning, and the Clarion wishes the team continuing success. NJM

JUST ANOTHER GAME for Coach Scott as he keeps his troops in line as he harps out orders. (Above)

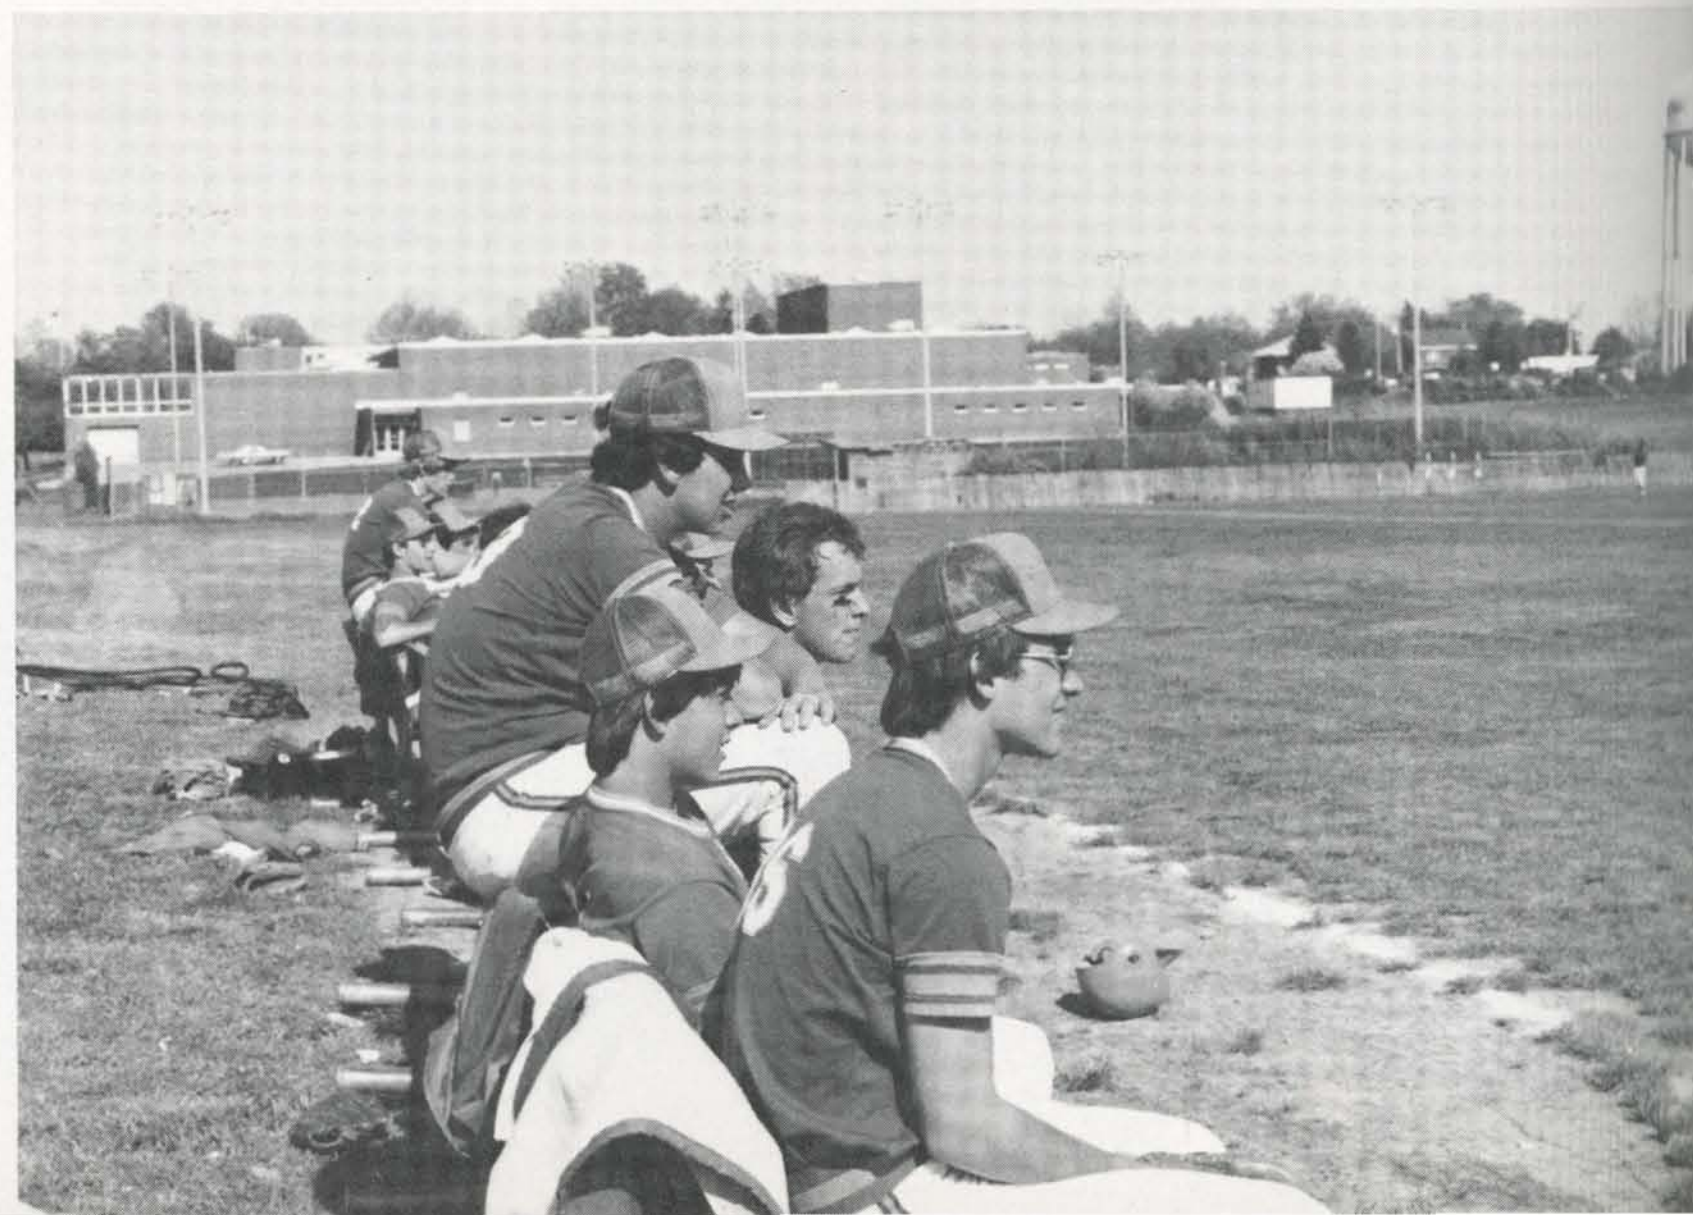

The baseball season was an overall success until regionals. Throughout the year we managed to tie for the conference title and also captured the Intercity with a 5-1 record. We played a tough schedule but still managed to stay respectful. All of this held up until our second round regional game with Central Catholic. Here, we just didn't play well and were defeated.

Throughout the year we always played tough competition. We began the year a little slow and this is what cost us a tie for the conference title. If we had begun the season like we were capable of we would have locked up the conference title without question. As the season progressed the seniors began to show their leadership and this is what brought us together. Despite our disappointing loss, in regional, we had a good season and showed potential for a promising "85" team. DCM KLW

TO SAY THE 1983-84 basketball team was successful is an understatement. Their ability and determination earned them the Conference title and the best record in the Intercity. With a 19-8 record the team also accomplished goals such as getting 4th in the Illinois State Classic and defeating Central Catholic in 2 out of 3 match-ups. The team used all eleven players to help win and succeed this year; in addition, David Kotarba and Scott Livingston were chosen as Most Valuable Players.

A Big Thanks

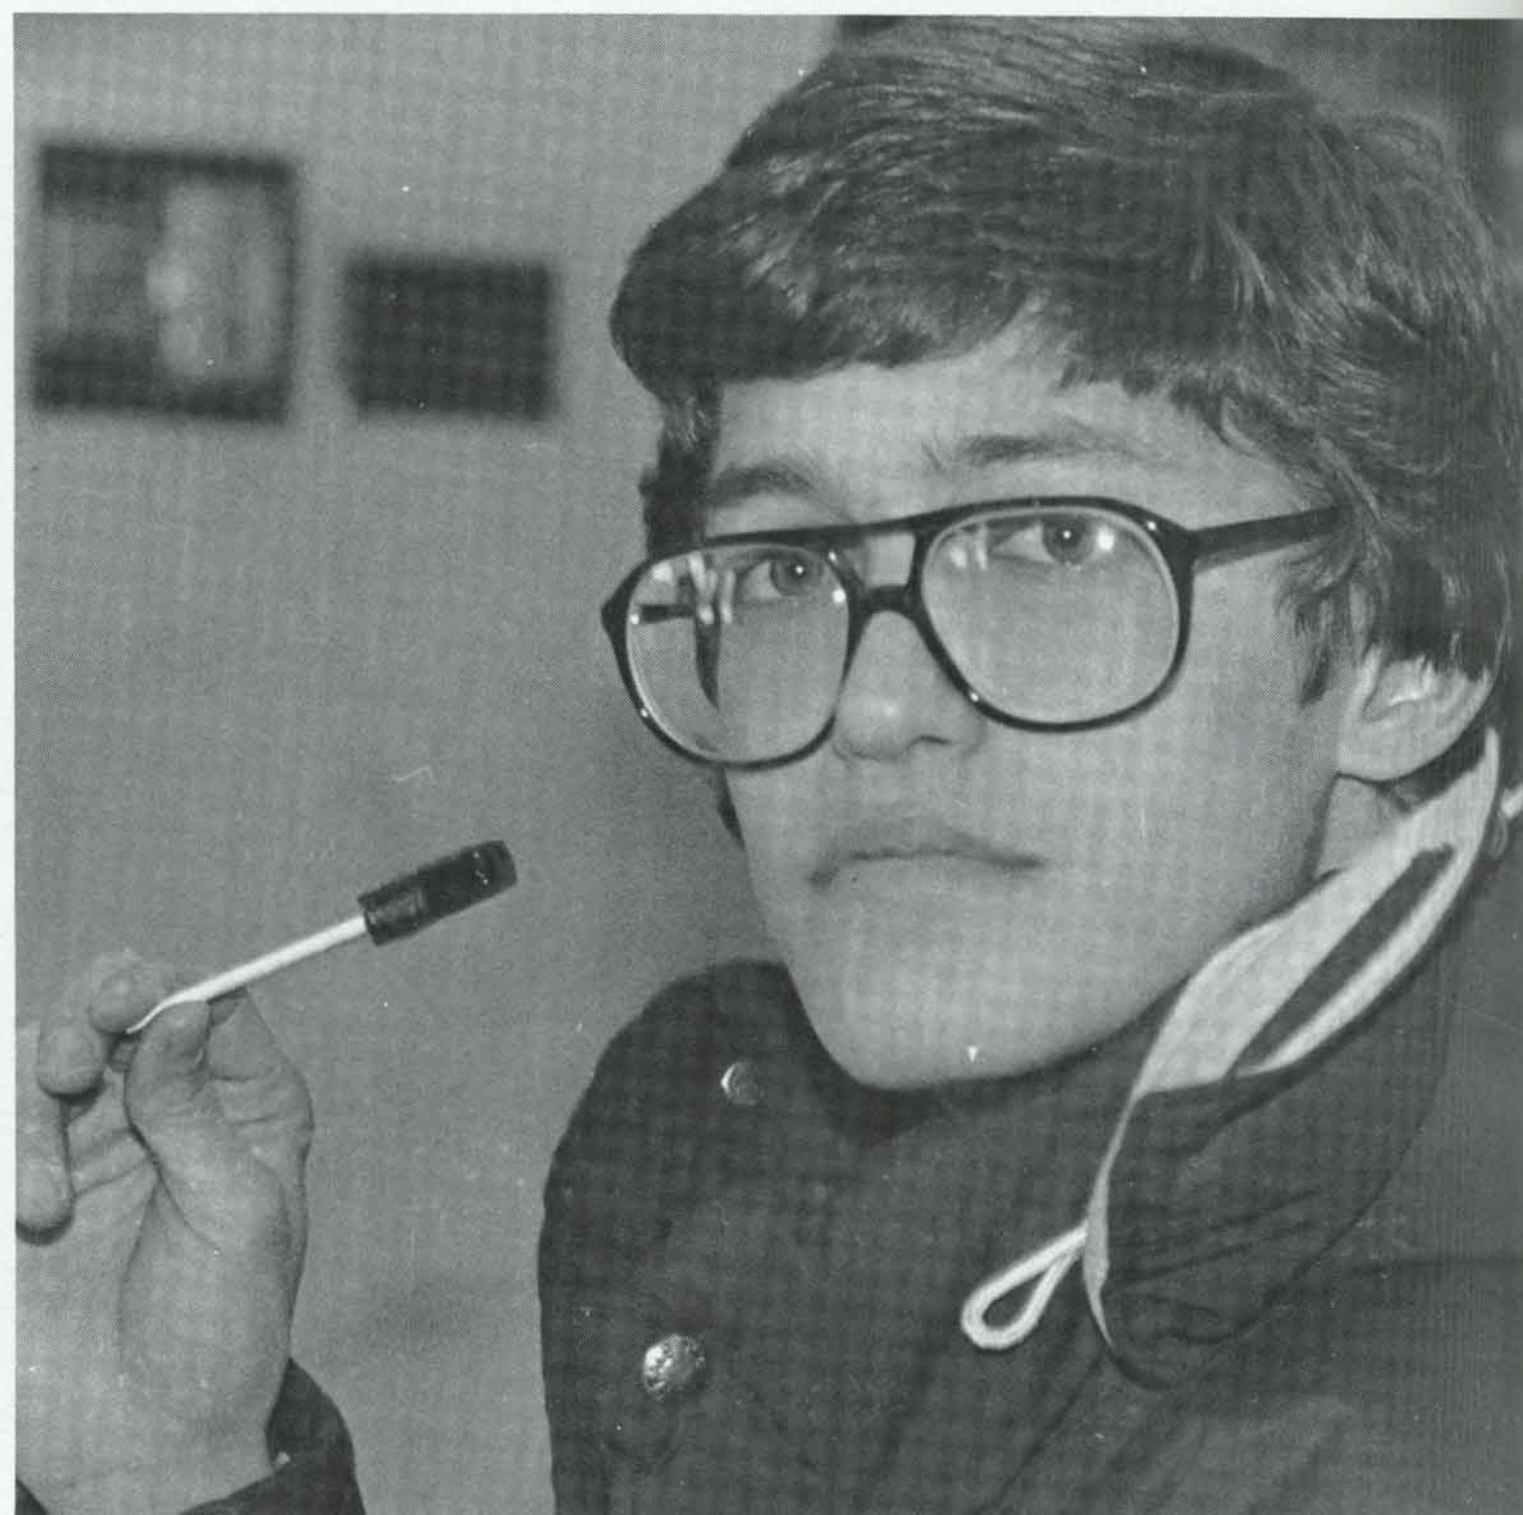

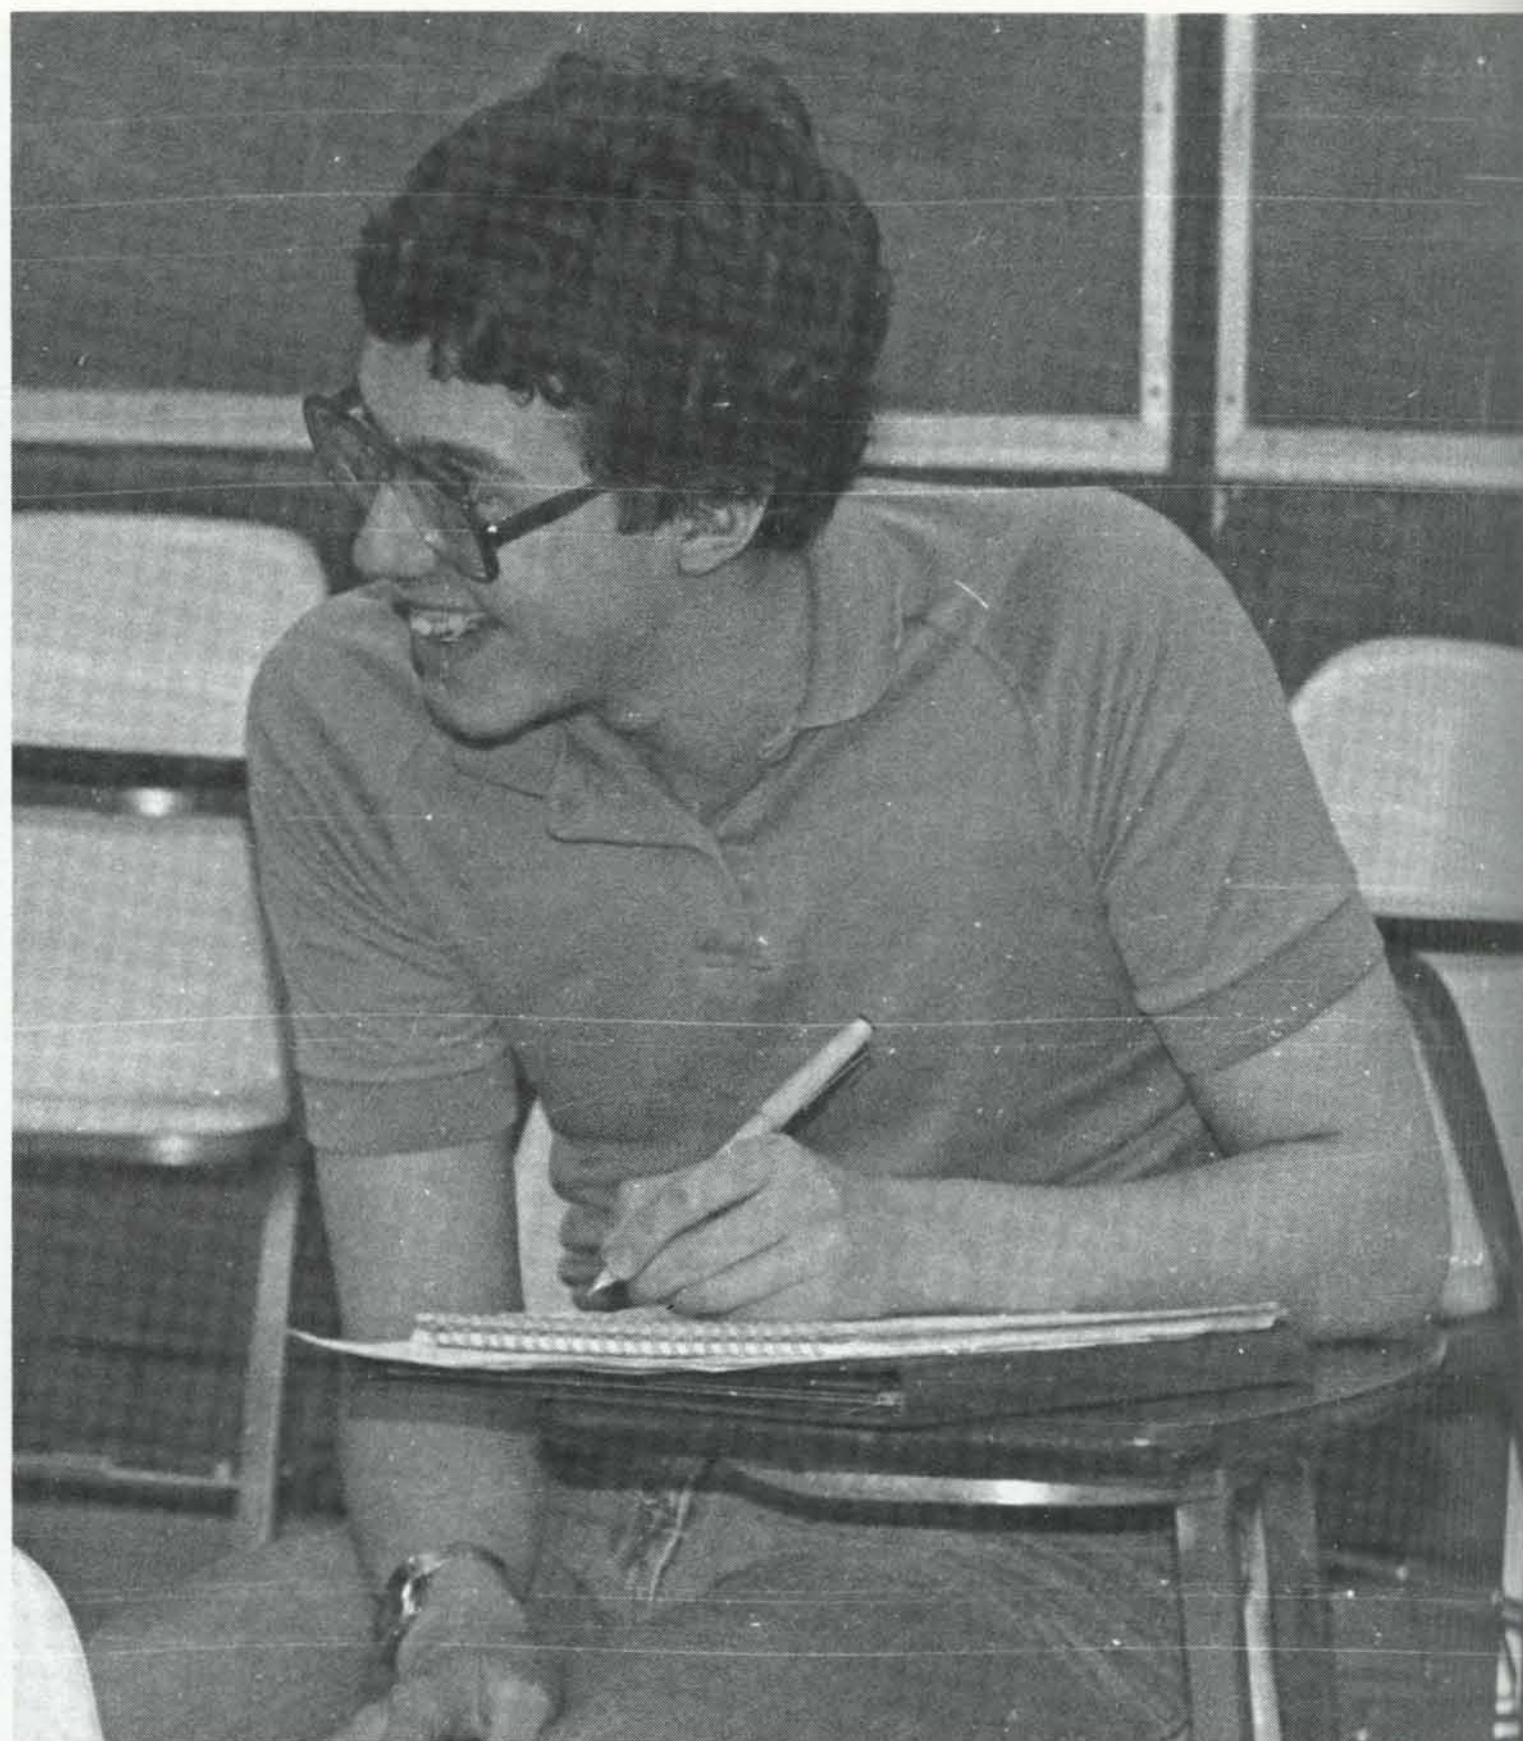

I think it's time to give a little thanks to one fellow senior who has gone way beyond the call of duty. The school knows him as "The Mad Flasher", another name for Bruce Stefl. If not for him, this yearbook would have never been finished, and for that matter even started. Bruce has spent uncountable hours in the Clarion room doing and re-doing layouts, taking pictures of school events, and developing our negatives.

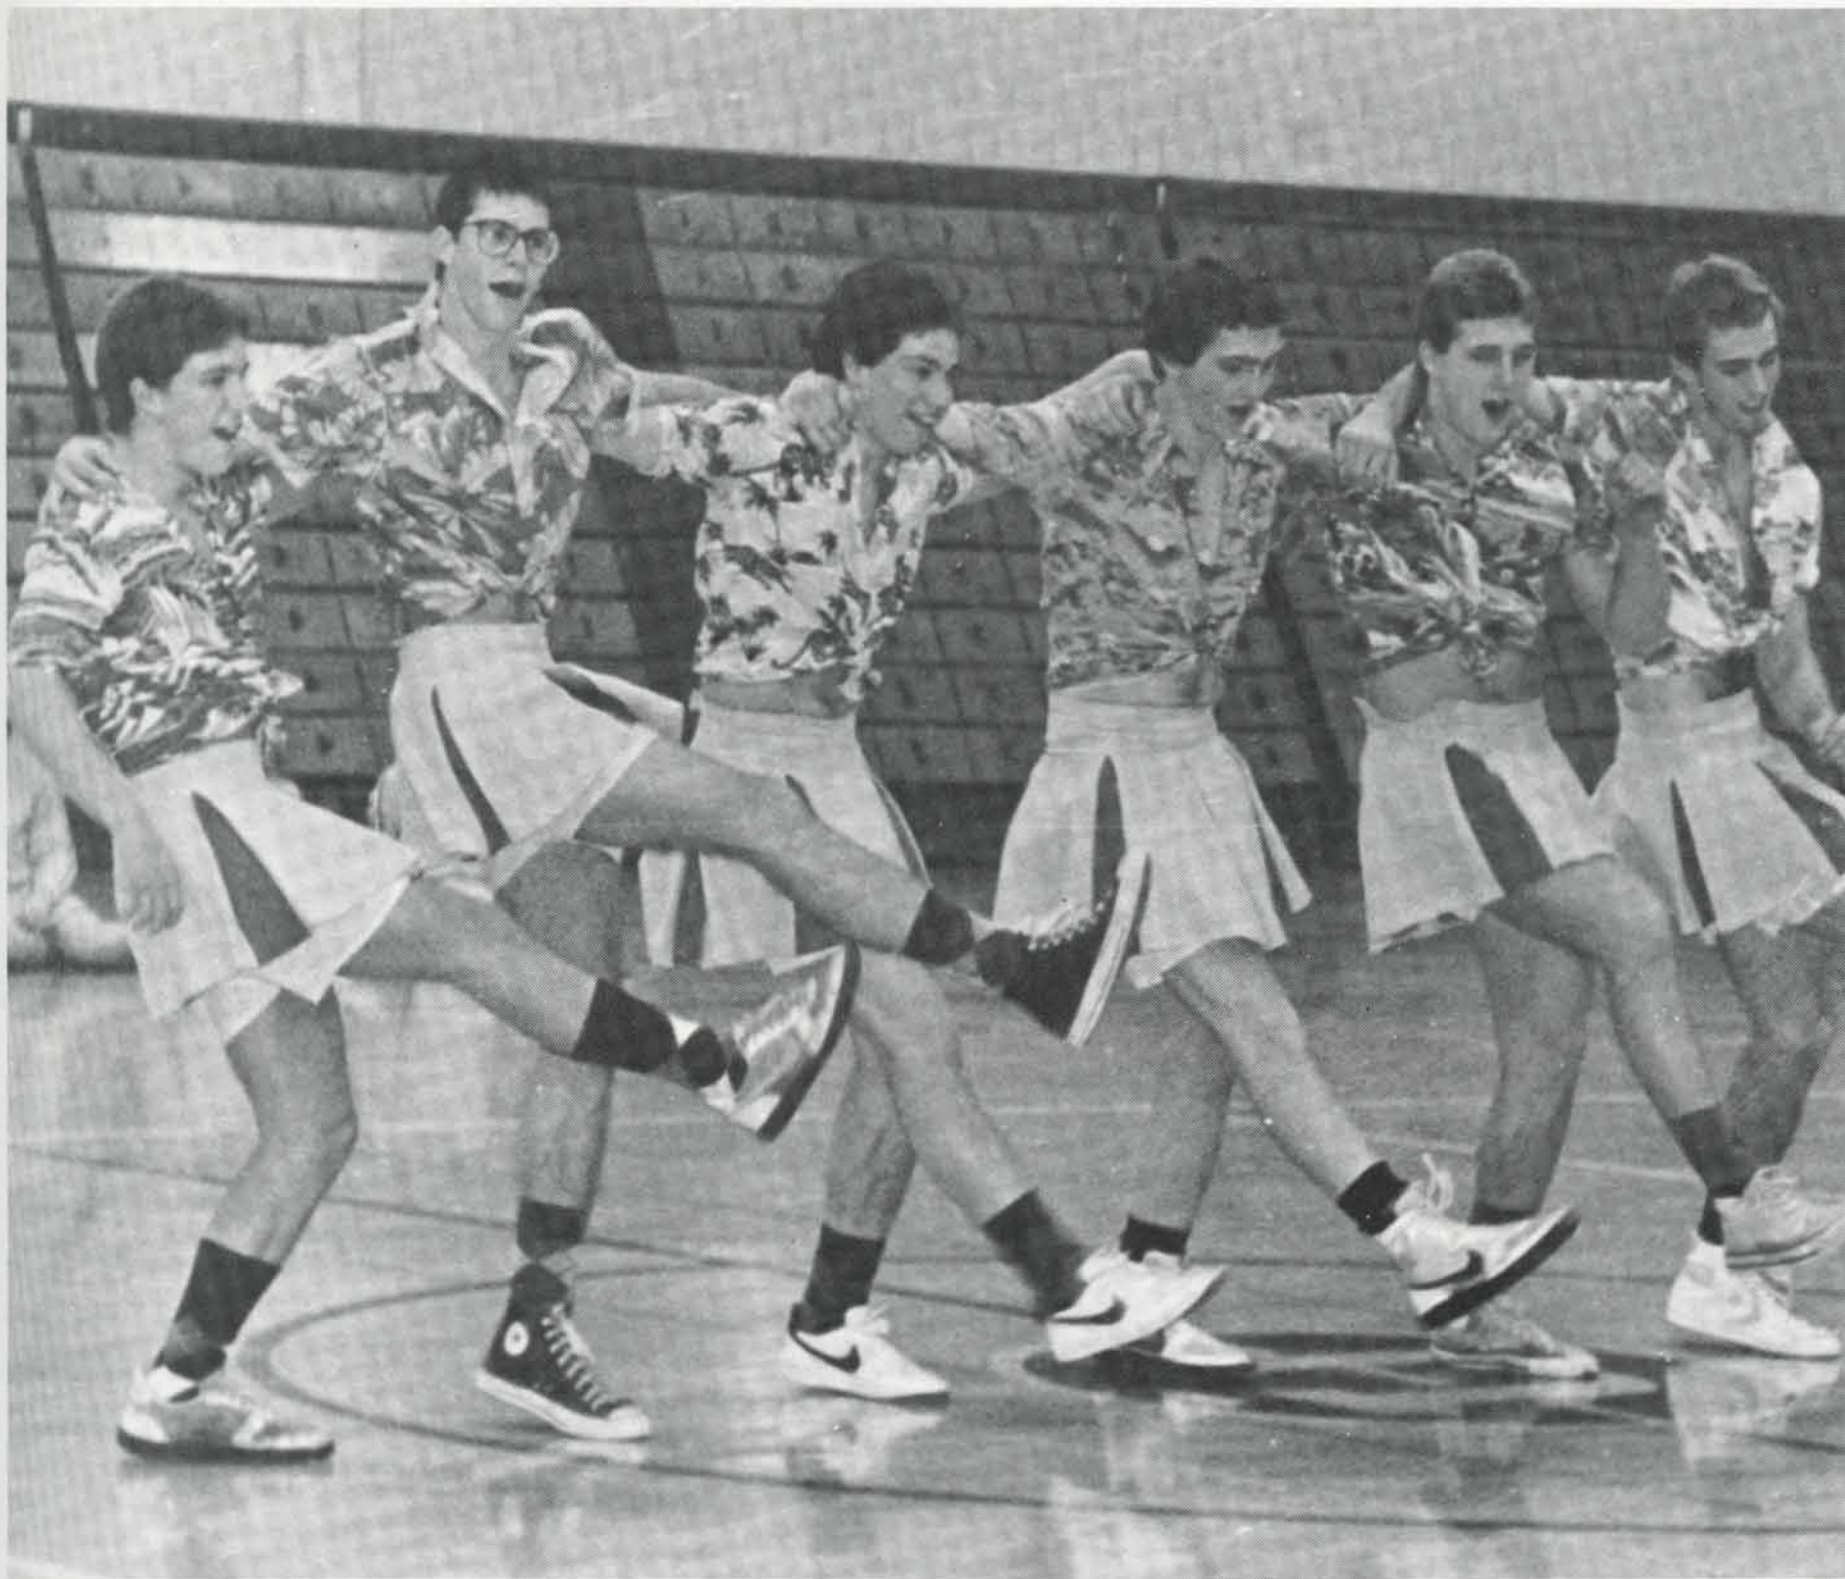

As everyone knows it takes a group effort to put together a yearbook, and in the end we all did pull together to put this together. But all in all, Bruce did the most, and without the knowledge and leadership of his, I doubt we would have made it. So I'd like to take this chance to say "thanks" from me and the Class of '84, because if you wouldn't have been here, this yearbook wouldn't have made it. KLW

MANY THANKS GOES to Bruce Stefl. (Right)

Educational Atmosphere

As a school should, U-High provides an excellent education for its students. The special atmosphere and circumstances at U-High allow the students and faculty to work closely together to create an educational environment for everyone.

Of course everyone knows this, but a recent interview of the working Clarion staff revealed these new insights on U-High academics.

Maureen McAllister — “no comment,” (Maureen still hasn’t mastered forming complete sentences yet.)

Bruce Stefl — “I think having five free hours is fine.”

Cara Stearns — “Academics? That new punk band? They’re great!!!!”

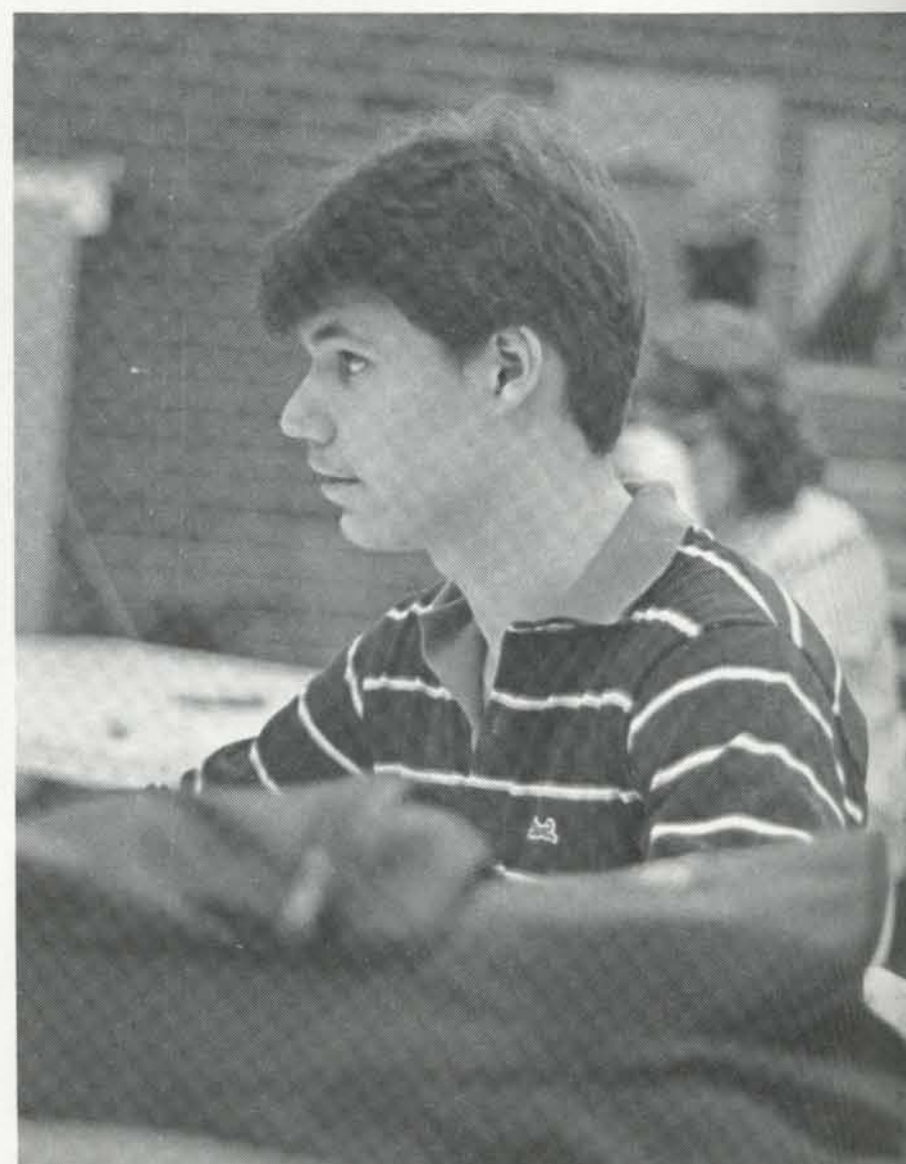

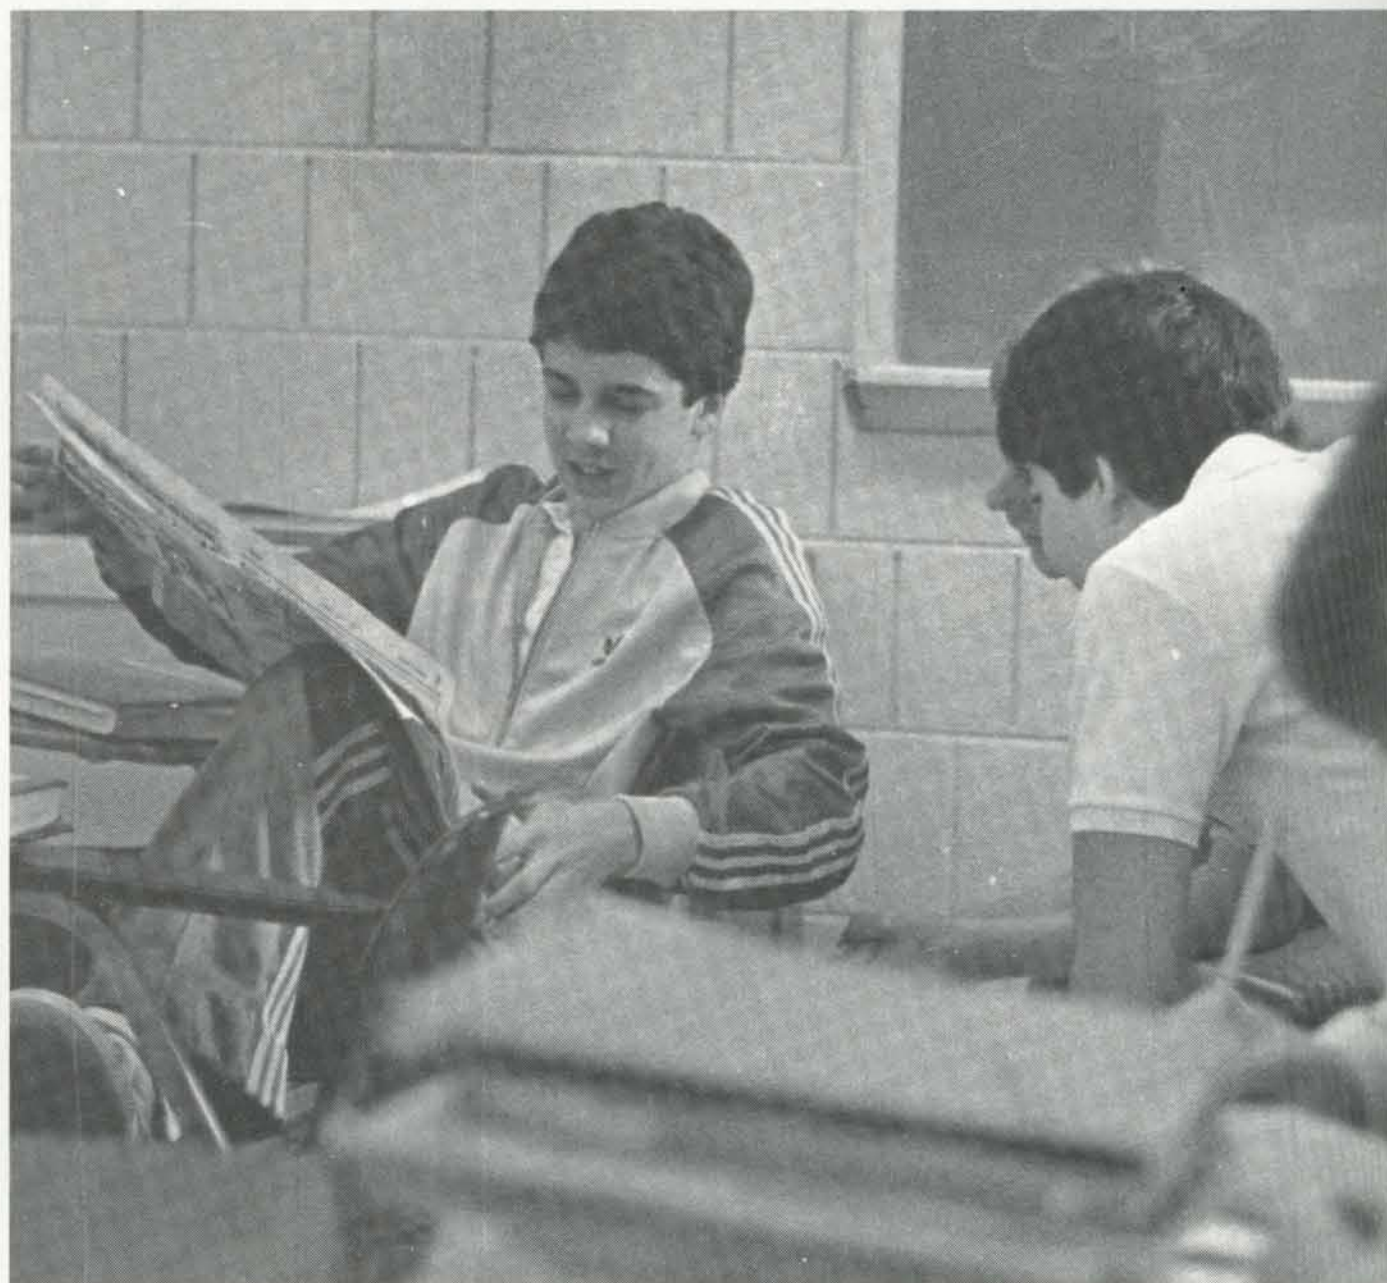

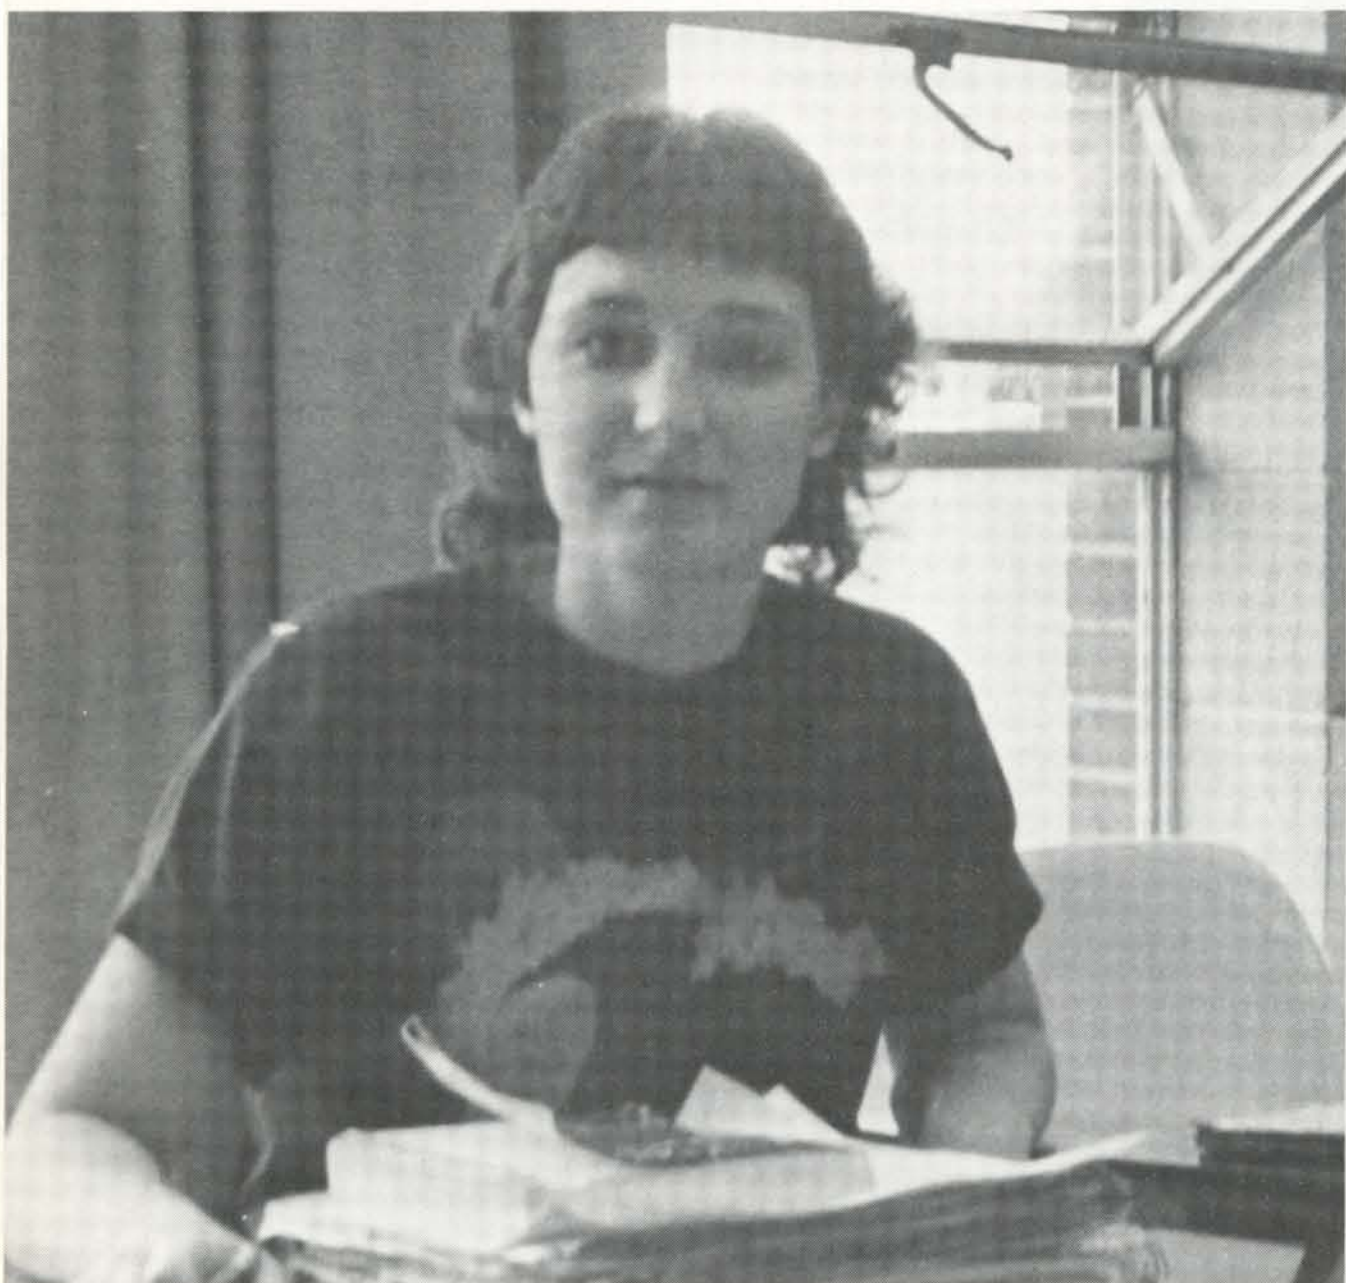

As for me, I’m still trying to get the right classes. Hey coach, ya got a map? KISS

SOME PEOPLE NEVER mind having their picture taken — even while on a shopping spree. (Top)
 MRS. FORTUNE LOVES to have her picture taken — especially her good side. (Above)

Herff Jones Yearbook Company of Marceline, Missouri, 64658, printed the 375 copies of the 1984 CLARION: VIEWS AND REVIEWS. A contributing staff of 15 compiled the 120 page book on 80# Bordeaux paper with a Smyth-sewn binding. The cover is Vista Screen 1075 Black with applied 0014 Cadmium Red. Board weight is 120 point. Cover design by Lynn Vanderbosch. Endsheets are EX3 Red. Body copy (10 point) and captions (8 points) are Times Roman. Company heads are also Times Roman. Multicolor Plus program was used on pages 1, 3-4, 7-8, 11-12, 15. Herff Jones Company Representative was Mr. Bob Donnelly and the Service Representative was JoAnn Mott. BAS

The Final Chapter

Just as a movie ends before you want it to, so does the Clarion '84. We have done our best to capture the memorable moments of this year, but also hang on to the memories not recorded here: Mrs. Fortunes' moods, Mrs. Hoss, the 10:00 announcements, and the never-ending "ME" exclaimed by the Junior guys. All in all, 1984 is rated a strong *. BAS/LMV
